Open Education Resources

#1 Due to the popularity of the Open Textbook Workshop last month, a repeat performance will be held Friday, March 8, from 10-11am in Hamersly Library -- Room 107. The one-hour session will provide information about open textbooks and how to find open textbooks in your field. After the workshop, if you write a short review of an open textbook from the Open Textbook Library, you'll receive a $200 stipend (provided by OpenOregon).

#2 Redesign your course with an open textbook or other open educational resources in just one week and earn a $750 stipend! The goal of the training is to redesign an existing course using open materials in order to save students money. You will also explore open educational practices that encourage students to create or contribute to open content with a real-world purpose. Registration deadline is February 25.

Watch your email for more details about both of these opportunities and you can always contact Sue Kunda at the library for more information.
