About Western Oregon University:

Western Oregon University is a regional public, mid-sized university – committed to changing lives, strengthening communities and transforming our world. Located in Monmouth, the heart of Oregon’s lush Willamette Valley, WOU is about 20 minutes from Salem, the state’s capital and about 75 minutes from Portland, the state’s cultural hub.

Western is one of Oregon’s oldest public institutions of higher education and was incorporated into the state system as a teacher training institution in 1882. The university offers undergraduate and graduate degrees in arts and sciences, education and professional areas. It’s known for small class sizes, a focus on sustainability and a diverse liberal arts education in a student-centered environment. Western is an Hispanic Serving institution, with over 40% of undergraduates being students of color.

Position Summary:

The Adjunct Faculty Member in the Computer Science Division (CSD) will be responsible for providing high-quality, learner-centered education topics in Computer Science. CSD offers programs at the undergraduate level and contributes courses to several other programs at WOU, including the undergraduate general education core. The Computer Science department focuses on full-stack software development. We seek applicants who are student centered and experienced in teaching technology related to full-stack development and foundational skills required for a computer science degree. Including, but not limited to Algorithms, Programming Languages, Operating Systems, and Design and Testing at an upper division level (300 and 400).
