

Tribal Inspired Leadership Training (TILT)

Host Agency:

Class: TILT (Tribal Inspired Leadership Training)

Date:

Time: 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Where:

What is this training about? This course provides fundamental concepts in leadership. It is designed to train and equip executives with the skills necessary to make leadership decisions, for the purpose of implementing and administering community policing programs in their community. Participants will evaluate case studies and share experiences in the context of an executive's leadership approach in implementing and administering community policing programs in Tribal communities.

The course consists of topics including: Carrying Out Community Policing Principles: Defining and Understanding Leadership and Management Roles; Successfully Integrating and Synchronizing Community Policing Principles through Leadership: the Situational Leadership Model; Community Policing Executive Leadership Skills: Primal Leaders and Emotional Quotient (EQ); Comprehensive Application of Community Policing Principles: The Transformational Leader. This training assists leaders to meet challenges by: analyzing, comparing, and identifying the leadership skills necessary "to do the right thing, at the right time, in the right way, and for the right reasons."

Who should attend? The target audiences for this program are Tribal executive leaders representing a broad spectrum of public and private organizations. This would include representatives from any of the following disciplines and any other non-Tribal executives who have direct involvement in community leadership:

- Law enforcement
- Fire service
- Public works & public utilities
- Public safety
- Education
- Community leaders
- Emergency medical services
- Communications services
- Government administration
- Health care & Private sector executives
- Emergency Managers
- Community stakeholders

Cost: This no-cost training is provided by Western Oregon University and is supported by the U.S. Department of Justice, Community Oriented Policing Services Office.
